The Last of the Land Pirates.

The news of the death of "General" William Walker is confirmed. The "grey-eyed man of destiny" has at last met a long deserved fate. Let us hope that in him died the last of the race of filibusters who have spread misery and desolation in their paths through peaceful countries. The New Orleans True Delta, of Sept. 29th, has the following account of the closing scenes, derived from Major Thomas Dolan, the same person to whom we alluded recently as having last year been a resident of Fraser River.

At midnight, on the 23d August, Walker left Truxillo with his little band, and after proceeding several miles, lost his way. The men were resting and cleaning their guns, etc., on the morning of the 24th, lying under the trees, when suddenly a large force of Hondurians marched upon them. Several of Walker's men were wounded by this fire, but he quickly collected his little band together and forming them into two companies, ordered them to charge in different directions—one up and the other down the river. Walker having got a little ahead of his party, was fired at by a Hondurian at a distance of two paces, and wounded in the face. The General, however, quickly brought down his assailant with a ten-shooter, and the rest of the Hondurians fled in great confusion, leaving their killed and wounded behind. Of this party of one hundred and forty, but thirty (?) got back to Truxillo. When it is considered that Walker's men were all veterans, and were armed with Minie rifles, this loss is not at all an improbable one. In this action of Walker's party, George Pomeroy was killed, and the following wounded: Lieutenant Ryan, Isly, Priddy, Coffin, Hogg, Wolgamote, Fuller and Porter. None of these men were dangerously wounded, but one of the wounded, a German named Smith, who was in charge of a fellow-countryman named Strocker, was murdered by the Hondurians. His friend met a like fate.

On the night after the battle, which occurred in the afternoon, Walker took up his line of march to a place further down the river, called Limon. This place they reached in safety, with no other casualty but the severe wounding of Major Hoff by the fire of some straggling Hondurians. At Limon, Walker's party was kindly received by the native Carybs, who constitute the population of the place, and who are inveterate in their hostility to the Hondurians generally, and to all Spaniards. They spoke English, and gave Walker's men an abundance of such provisions as they had. Continuing their march from this place—passing through several Caryb villages, where they were always kindly received, and receiving now and then a straggling shot from some prowling Hondurians—the little band finally reached a place on the sea coast called Little Rock, where they remained for a day, receiving much kind treatment from the Carybs, and then procured boats to transport the sick and wounded to the place where Walker had arranged to have his rendezvous.

Leaving Little Rock, Walker proceeded towards Black River, stopping on his way at the house of a hospitable Caryb called John Bull. At three o'clock p. m. on the 27th of August, Walker reached in safety the Black River (Rio Negro) or Tonto, and encamped at the trading post of one Demsing, an Englishman, who has lived in the country for twenty-one years. Here the men obtained provisions, and Walker remained for three days. The post is but two miles and a half from the sea coast.

On the 3d of September two British cutters, carrying forty men, came up the river, and Captain Salmon, of the Icarus, accompanied by General Alvarez, of the Hondurian army, stopped ashore and walked to the house in which Walker was, and asked an interview with him, which was granted.—Captain Salmon demanded that Walker should surrender. The latter asked if he surrendered, would it be to British authorities. To this inquiry Major Dolan and Captain West, who were present at the interview, solemnly assert that Salmon replied, "Yes, you surrender to me, as a British officer." The question was repeated by General Walker, and the same answer given by Commander Salmon, who rather haughtily and patronizingly added, "You may thank me, too, that you have a whole bone in your body."

The General then told them that under these circumstances he would surrender. The men were ordered to form, and their arms, even to their knives, were delivered over to the British marines, who formed a guard over them. That night, when the men were all asleep, General Walker and Colonel Rudler were taken under a guard to the Icarus, and in the morning all the men were taken on board the same vessel, where they were closely guarded, and not permitted to hold any conversation with General Walker and Colonel Rudler. On the 4th the Icarus weighed anchor, and steamed up to Truxillo, where she arrived that night. On the way all the officers and men of Walker's party were searched, for papers which might be used for his conviction. In addition to the British sailors and marines on the Icarus, there was a force of about two hundred Hondurian soldiers. On the morning of the 5th, the men of Walker's party were marched off the ship and paraded in front of three hundred Hondurian soldiers. General Walker and Colonel Rudler were then formally delivered over to the Hondurian authorities, and the men were marched off to prison under a guard of the British marines. They were confined in a wretched prison, with an allowance of one dollar and a half a day for the whole party, and closely guarded by fifty or sixty armed men. During their detention, however, the unfortunate prisoners received many acts of kindness from Spanish citizens residing in Truxillo, for which they expressed themselves in terms of warm gratitude.

While in prison they mourned the sad fate of their late beloved and heroic commander. Walker and Rudler, after being delivered over to the Hondurians, were heavily ironed and placed in dark cells, and no person allowed to communicate with them. On the 11th of September the prisoners were informed by Mr. Squiers, an American, that the General was to be shot the next day.

Accordingly, on the morning of the 12th, the doors and windows of the prison were all closed, but through the port-holes the sad spectacle was witnessed by Major Dolan, of the cortege which led the General to the place of his execution. He walked between two priests, and was preceded and followed by a strong guard. The party soon disappeared from the view of the prisoners. In ten minutes after they had marched by the prison, a volley of four muskets was heard, then a volley of five, and finally a single shot, followed by loud hurrahs. And this was all the prisoners knew of the fate of their brave commander, until the doors and windows of their cells were opened, and the fact was announced to them with great glee and exultation on the part of the Hondurian officials. The body of the General was left on the ground by the soldiers, whence it was taken by two American gentlemen and decently buried, with the aid of two Catholic priests. Colonel Rudler was sentenced to four years' imprisonment, and was seen by the prisoners riding on a mule into the country, under a guard of soldiers.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, writing from Truxillo, gives some details of an interview with Walker after his capture. He says:

"While on board the Icarus, I had a conversation with Walker, who handed me the original correspondence which passed between himself and the British commander, which he said he would like to have published. He also requested me to write out, at his dictation, a brief protest against his surrender to Hondurian authorities. His dictation was calm and deliberate, giving me ample opportunity to write down every word before pronouncing the next. While I was thus engaged, an officer approached and informed me that I could receive no communication for publication from the prisoners. This seemed to trouble Walker, who then asked me to look over the papers and note them well. The officer thereupon reported to the Captain, who promptly came up and told me to take whatever papers I pleased from the prisoner, for publication or otherwise. I accordingly send you the original letters of Captain Salmon to Walker, the reply of Walker in his own hand, and the 'Protest,' which I wrote out at his dictation."

The following is the protest referred to: "I hereby protest, before the civilized world, that when I surrendered to the captain of her Majesty's steamer Icarus, that officer expressly received my sword and pistol, as well as the arms of Colonel Rudler, and the surrender was expressly, and in so many words, to him, as the representative of Her Britannic Majesty.

"WILLIAM WALKER.

THE BRITISH COLONIST

TO ADVERTISERS.

All advertisements, unless the time for which they are to be inserted is specified, will be continued until ordered out, and so charged.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Communications of general interest to the public, will not be refused insertion in the COLONIST on account of differing with the views of the paper, provided that they are brief and to the point.

Saturday Morning, October 27, 1860.

A Master of Arts to the Rescue.

Since reading the following letter from a Master of Arts, we confess we are fully convinced that Dr. Hills will recover from the effects of "An Occasional Paper." The writer bears nobly his university honors, as his letter proves him exceedingly artful. We congratulate "the humbler classes" of Yale in having such a prodigy of learning in so "bleak and desolate a region." The vindication of the Bishop against the misrepresentation of the COLONIST is charming—the attack on the latter is so artfully constructed that no one but a Master of Arts could ever have written so nice an apology for "nursery narratives." But, here is the letter itself:

THE PARSONAGE, Yale, Oct. 17, '60.
MY DEAR SIR,—It is but due to our good town of Yale, to the Bishop, and to yourself, as chairman at the public meeting which presented the Yale Address to His Lordship, to notice a paragraph in the Supplement of the COLONIST for October 6th, which most incorrectly makes the Bishop sum up the presenters of that Address—"the Address presented at Yale"—as being "amongst the humbler classes;" strange non sequitur to His Lordship's courtesy and friendliness during his stay amongst us so consistently manifested!

How could a journal so well "posted" in the chronology of public events in "Church and State" as the COLONIST make such a mistake?

Did not the editor receive from his Yale correspondent an account of the presentation of the Yale Address as taking place "at Yale" on June 12th last, whereas the "Occasional Paper," on which he comments, he states in the beginning of this critique in the supplement for October 6th, was published in England for the month of "June 1860." Ergo, the Bishop is made to remark upon the status in society of the presenters of the Yale Address, at Yale, some good month, at least, before such Address was presented.

The fact is this, the Address upon which His Lordship did thus comment was a petition forwarded to him on his arrival, praying for a school. This document was simple, lacking all the accidental externals of a Municipal Address, and purporting to be signed only by a few of the inhabitants of Yale having children.

The Bishop, coming to an ostensibly British Colony, fresh from British institutions, fell, I suppose, into the very pardonable error of forgetting the change from England to British Columbia, and opined that the few inhabitants petitioned for a species of "National School."

It does not raise the status of, nor promote permanent confidence in, a newspaper to scatter censure in any quarter loosely, and risk, as in our own share of the matter, the poisoning of the minds of a whole town full against a public man, by conclusions based upon data carelessly assumed.

It is not for the vindication of the Bishop, it is most due to ourselves, here and in Yale, for the COLONIST to act in this case as it is always ready to, I trust, correct its own misapprehensions.

Requesting you, therefore, to forward this letter to the Editor, believe me to be, as ever, my dear sir, very faithfully yours,

W. BURTON CRICKMER, M. A.
P. S.—I forward a copy of this letter to His Lordship.

To JOHN KURTZ, Esq., Chairman of the Yale Address Meeting, &c., Yale, B. C.

The great fault of the COLONIST, it appears, is having published a review of "An Occasional Paper," and believing that some degree of reliance could be placed on the text of the epistles, we used the following language: "Speaking of the address presented to His Lordship at Yale, he says:—'It came from the humbler classes.' This is indeed consoling to the Yale folks." The paragraph from which our extract was taken is as follows: "Yale requires a resident Clergyman. It is the place of supply to a large mining region, and must always be so. See the enclosed interesting Address, and my reply. It came from the humbler classes of the inhabitants, and is highly interesting." Presuming that "address" meant address, we dealt with it in that sense, never thinking for a moment that an address would be presented elsewhere than at Yale. The text, however, was not reliable—so our mistake. Henceforth, following the rule that address means petition, we shall incline to Paddy's habit of calling a wheelbarrow a carriage.

The blow struck in the letter at Governor Douglas institutions in British Columbia, implying that the Bishop had left British institutions in England, but found them not in his diocese, is only surpassed by the short notice of His Excellency in the "narratives." In the last paragraph but one of the letter, is a pious fling at the COLONIST. We cannot do better than re-write it, changing but a few words. Here it is; the quoted portions from the letter.

"It does not raise the status of, nor promote permanent confidence in," a Bishop nor his apologists, "to scatter" missionary narratives "in any quarter loosely" even in England, "and risk as in our own share of the matter, the poisoning of the minds of a whole townful"—or the whole of England—"against" a distinguished ecclesiastic, a neighboring nation, or the reformers of the colony, "by conclusions based upon data carelessly assumed."

Gov. Douglas' Independent Organ at New Westminster.

The New Westminster Times is once more at its old tricks. We had hoped, though we did not expect it, that with its removal to New Westminster, a more honest, truthful and manly course would be taken. But it is impossible "to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear." We have heard of people who never told the truth when they could tell a lie. We do not say the Times belongs to that class, although it "economizes the truth" better than any other concern we ever knew. We would never notice the concern at all, were it not the organ of Gov. Douglas. What else can it be? It only exists on what it gets from the Government crib. Take away the pay of the stipendiary sheet, and it will dry up there as it did here. When here it would send its reporter to a public meeting and report anything but the truth to suit the bidding of its unscrupulous masters. Among other things, the political intriguers who controlled it here, and now shape its policy there, in order to throw ridicule on reform, and repress the uprising of the people for freedom, got it to advocate manhood suffrage. It was merely done to overthrow real reform if possible. Had the Reform party at that time asked for manhood suffrage, then the Times would have taken the "right about." Nevertheless it has advocated manhood suffrage one week; and the next week denied that British Columbia was fit for representative institutions. How very consistent.

Its policy now is the same as it was then—to advocate extreme principles in order to cheat the people out of their rights. Compare its advocacy of representative institutions with a hermaphrodite legislature. Is such not proof positive that no dependance can be placed in it? Moreover, it does not represent British Columbia feeling. That colony wants genuine representative institutions; not such a mockery as the Times is peddling about for Gov. Douglas. Long before the Times existed, we advocated a legislature for British Columbia. We do so still, and will continue to advocate it till she obtains it, even if it has to be conceded with universal suffrage. We are not of the Times stripe, to recommend one thing to-day and reverse it to-morrow, for a few crusts from the government mess. And yet we are told that we insulted British Columbians, and now wish to make it up by advocating representative institutions. The forte of the Times is evidently in "economizing the truth." We deny having given any insult, and challenge the proof. In the meantime, permit us to say that the Times has insulted them, and now even misrepresents the political feeling of the country.

When the Times, last December, tried to hoodwink the people by manhood suffrage, and charged us with being opposed to it, we then stated: "We are by no means opposed to universal suffrage, when it is practicable and demanded by the country." So much for the truth-telling Times. We are of the same opinion now as then. When the country is ripe for universal suffrage we will ask it and get it, as we did the £12 rental; and when we ask it, the country knows we mean it. Not so, however, our hoodwinking cotemporary—the independent organ of Gov. Douglas—it asks one thing, and means another.

MORE GOLD IN TOWN.—Victoria may yet turn out to be a regular Cariboo, as far as regards hidden treasure. Yesterday afternoon some workmen employed in sinking a well on Collinson street, came to a streak of blue cement and gravel, a pan-full of which was washed, and found to contain thirty cents' worth of gold. One piece alone weighed twenty-five cents. Two bits to the pan is an excellent prospect. What is stranger still, this prospect is just at the base of church hill, and in the immediate vicinity of the spot from whence was taken the specimen of gold-bearing quartz the other day. The well is eighteen feet deep, and the gravel rests upon the bed-rock. Who will spend a day in prospecting?

THE "OREGON."—The steamer Oregon will leave for San Francisco about 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. She will carry away a goodly number of passengers.

STROKES OF LIGHTNING.—Four Indians have died within the past week from the effects of strokes of lightning, (i. e., rot-gut whisky.)

NEARLY A FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday evening an officer of the gunboat Forwood was crossing on horseback the first bridge beyond the Indian Reserve, when suddenly the horse broke through the rotten planks, and barely escaped breaking his legs. Mr. Clark, the rider, was thrown off and seriously injured, his face lacerated, and body badly bruised; so much so, in fact, that he has ever since been under surgical treatment, unable to be put on duty. This case fulfils our predictions. We must have some one dangerously injured, or killed, before proper attention will be paid to Esquimalt road. It is shameful, the way in which the government have neglected it. On His Excellency devolves the responsibility of seeing that it is put in good condition. He alone is blame. It is and was within his power to have improved it. Had he laid out the $1800 voted in 1858, the road would now be a good one, and the public not be in danger of broken necks in crossing the bridges. Why has it not been done? Mr. Gordon, at the Esquimalt road meeting, remarked that "the Governor told him that, as an honest man, he (the Governor) could not lay out a shilling." We ask, where is the honesty in withholding the funds voted? Tell us that; and tell us by what right, human or divine, it is done.

HEAVY SHOT.—In its issue of week before last, the New Westminster Times found fault with Messrs. Wright, Scott & Nelson, merchants at Cayoosh, for patronizing an opposition boat on Anderson Lake, to the exclusion of the regular steamer. Last week the firm alluded to sent the editor of the sheet in question a letter, in which they deny the truth of the statement, and add in conclusion—

"That as long as we remain in British Columbia, if God is willing, we intend to transact our own business in our own peculiar manner, and not allow ourselves to be influenced in the least by the interposition of any outside meddling newspaper scribblers."

The editor thereupon hauls in his horns, and takes back his remarks of the previous issue; thereby settling the difficulty without "bloodshed."

A RARE AVIS.—A Chinaman Indian was arrested the other day on a charge of having sold whisky to some friends of his. It was proven that he was an old hand at the business, and he was fined $50, or in default, sentenced to suffer three months' imprisonment. Much to the surprise of all present, he pulled a dirty rag out of his pocket, and untying its folds, planked down the money upon the clerk's desk and walked off, with an angry exclamation of "wake klosk" (no good).

CREATING DISTURBANCE.—D. M. Donnelly, for creating a disturbance in the house of J. D. Cusheon, Government street, on Thursday night, contributed yesterday fifty shillings towards the public treasury, by order of the police magistrate.

THE ELIZA ANDERSON.—This steamer arrived from New Westminster yesterday noon, bringing a few passengers and letters, and left shortly after for the Sound.

INCORPORATION BILL.—It is said this bill will come up before the House of Assembly on Monday next.

"SIX DEGREES OF CRIME."—This great moral drama, will be played this evening at the Colonial Theatre, and none should fail to witness the performance. It far surpasses, both in point of moral effect and interest, any drama before produced in this city. Considerable expense has been gone to by the troupe, and no doubt their efforts to please on this occasion, will be duly appreciated by a discriminating public. The whole strength of the company is cast in the piece. The afterpiece of the "Dumb Belle" will conclude the performance. Between the pieces, Miss Lulu Sweet, the universal favorite, will give one of her charming dances, and Mr. Oliver will delight the audience with two of his best songs. As the house will doubtless be crowded, we would advise those desirous of procuring seats to go early.

GAS COMMITTEE.—The select committee on the Victoria Gas bill are to meet at 11, A. M., on Monday, in committee-room A, House of Assembly. The members are: Messrs. Waddington, (chairman), Foster, Green, Southgate, and McDonald.

WHISKY SELLER.—Antoine, a whisky-seller, was arrested by Sergeant Blake on Thursday, for selling his delightful poison to Siwashies. He was yesterday fined £5 by the Police Magistrate.

SECOND EDITION.—We learn that the pamphlet containing "One Letter from Lady Lavinia Skewton to the Lord Bishop of Colombia," has met with so rapid a sale that a second edition will be ordered.

SALE OF A PRINTING OFFICE.—P. M. Backus will sell the materials of the Gazette printing office this morning.

HIGH TIMES IN OHIO.—Two Deputy U. S. Marshals were sent from Kentucky, recently, to Lafayette county, Ohio, to arrest a fugitive slave. One of them succeeded in catching the fugitive and taking him home; but the other fared badly. Soon after showing his warrant he was set upon by a crowd of negroes and white men, to the number of sixty or seventy, a part of whom were armed with guns and pistols. The negro was liberated, and the person of the deputy secured by the assailants. His clothes were nearly torn off, and, amid shouts and oaths, he was beaten with clubs, to serve him, as the crowd said, "as they treat slaves at the South." The warrant and all his money was taken from him, and the mob endeavored to hang him, but failed to do so. They extended his arms and placed him as a mark for the bullets of those armed with guns. The deputy begged them to shoot him, rather than torture him as they had done. Those who were armed were drawn up, when the word was given—"Make ready—take aim"—but before the word "fire" was given, some one of the mob rushed in and begged them not to fire. The guns were dropped, and the deputy was liberated from his uncomfortable position. Not satisfied with the indignity and pain already inflicted, a knife was sent for and the hair of the officer was clipped close to his scalp, and he was then turned loose to make his way out of the neighborhood, which he did with all convenient haste.

THE NEW ORLEANS OUTRAGE.—About a quarter before twelve o'clock this forenoon, the Captain of the British steamship Gladiator, and the British Consul's Clerk, while in the rotunda of the St. Charles Hotel, were assaulted by having their faces slapped in a most ignominious manner by friends of the passengers on board the Gladiator and friends of the late General William Walker. The parties were arrested.—New Orleans Delta, Sept. 30th.

The Delta, in an editorial commenting on this affair, says:

The assault upon Captain Hineckley, of the British ship Gladiator, is an affair to be regretted and condemned. Emphatically and earnestly as we have expressed our opinion of the cruel and treacherous conduct of Commander Salmon towards General Walker, and of the haughty and presumptuous course of the British authorities in Central America, we have no apologies or anything but decided and earnest censure of such an insult as that which was offered to the Commander of the Gladiator. It is true that some of Walker's expedition, who were brought over by the Gladiator, complain of the most cruel treatment while they were on board of that ship; but unless it can be shown that the Captain exceeded his orders, and of his own will oppressed and outraged these prisoners, we think the assault upon him is without palliation or justification.

THE KINGDOM OF THE TWO SICILIES.—This kingdom contains on the main land the Neapolitan and governing portion of the country, 31,591 square miles, and 6,886,000 inhabitants. The Island of Sicily adds about 10,000 square miles and 2,231,000 population. Palermo, the chief city of the island, had, in 1857, 200,000 inhabitants.

The receipts from various imports in 1856 were, for the whole kingdom, 31,826,369 ducats, and for the same year the expenses were, 31,949,628 ducats. The ducat of Naples is not equal to our dollar. The expenses every year since 1856 must have gone many millions beyond the receipts. The total debt of the country is now more than one hundred and forty millions of dollars. But the resources of the two Sicilies are so great that, under a liberal government, the whole debt would soon be wiped away.

The island of Sicily once belonged to the house of Savoy. Austria at that time owned the island of Sardinia, and offered to exchange the last mentioned insular position for the first. This was accepted, and thus the Duke of Savoy became the Sovereign of an island, which gave the name of 'Sardinia' to the Northern Kingdom of Italy.—Boston Traveller.

NIAGARA PASSING AWAY.—The Falls recede at present, we are told, at the rate of something less than a foot in a year. Geology is able to predict that when a recession of a mile has taken place—some five or six thousand years hence—the height of the Fall will be reduced by a score of feet. Ten thousand years more, when the Fall shall have worn its way four miles further back, all that constitutes Niagara will have disappeared, and the whole descent will be accomplished by a series of rapids like those near the Whirlpool.

House of Assembly.

FRIDAY, Oct. 25th, 1860.
House met at half-past three o'clock. Present—Speaker Helmcken, and Messrs. Foster, Waddington, Tolmie, Cary, Crease, Southgate, Green, Gordon.

ELECTION PETITION.
A petition was received from Amor De Cosmos, in regard to the contested Esquimalt election case.

BILLS PASSED.
The bill to authorize the raising of a loan of £10,000 for the improvement of Victoria harbor and Esquimalt road; and the bill regulating harbor dues, were read a third time and passed.

REMOVAL OF THE VICTORIA BRIDGE.
House in committee on the bill for the removal of Victoria bridge, Mr. Gordon in the chair.

Mr. Crease said the House had been told that the bonds for the faithful performance of the work would be forthcoming to-day. Where were they?

Mr. Cary replied that they were signed, but he had to add a clause or two before they were presented to the House.

Mr. Crease—It has been stated in the House that the Colonial Surveyor has approved of the plans for the proposed bridges. He told me yesterday he had not even seen them. He wished to see proper security given before the bill was passed, and would move that the committee rise and report progress. Lost.

Mr. Foster—Promises were made that proper bonds would be given for the faithful performance of this work. I wish to see them laid on the table before we proceed with this bill.

Mr. Cary handed a document to the chairman, saying, "here are the bonds."

Mr. Waddington said the Colonial Surveyor had told him he approved of the bill; but could not find time to make a written opinion.

Mr. Foster replied that the Colonial Surveyor had told him yesterday that he had not approved of the work in any manner.

The bill passed the committee without further discussion, and the House adjourned to Monday, 29th instant, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

The Prince of Wales in St. Louis—Eighty Thousand People Receive Him.

Lord Renfrew, as His Highness chooses to be called, arrived in St. Louis on the 25th, and after receiving congratulations from his friends and visitors, retired for the night. On the 27th, he had the grandest reception ever accorded a titled personage, and by far exceeding anything that has thus far greeted him in America. The royal party left Barnum's Hotel about 10 o'clock in the morning, to see the sights. At the first appearance of the Prince he was greeted by cheers, to which he responded by lifting his hat. As the cortege passed up Walnut street the mob became excessive, almost choking the way. Most of the citizens were content with a passing view of the royal party, but the rabble closed in after the carriages, and for a time threatened to overwhelm the Prince with their rude and vulgar attentions. The route of the party, as advertised, was faithfully followed, and at every point along the route thousands were congregated to feast their eyes upon the Prince. A little fast driving enabled the party to escape in some degree the great pressure of the mob, and reach the Fair Grounds in good season. They entered the enclosure between 12 and 1 o'clock, and in a few minutes thereafter passed into the amphitheatre.

The scene at this moment was thrilling and very impressive. At least thirty thousand persons were packed and jammed in the seats and along the promenades of the amphitheatre, and at the moment of the entrance of the Prince there arose from this vast multitude a prolonged and hearty cheer, the ladies at the same time waving their handkerchiefs, and the gentlemen raising their hats. The Prince modestly lifted his hat, and the cheering continued. Slowly the carriages passed around the circle, the occupants of each section of the amphitheatre giving him a special welcome, and some of the ladies casting their bouquets at the Prince, while the band in the pagoda played the lively and inspiring "Hail to the Chief."

Passing once around, the carriages drew up in the centre, and the Prince and his party alighted on the ground. This was the signal for renewed cheering. They then passed up into the second balcony of the pagoda, where they were saluted by "God save the Queen" from the band. At the first strains of this familiar anthem, the immense audience sent forth another shout, and when it was immediately followed by "Hail Columbia" and "Yankee Doodle," the cheering became wild and irrepressible. Not only the Prince, but many of his suite lifted their hats at the astonishing enthusiasm and good will expressions of the people. Quiet being restored, the bulls, cows and heifers to which premiums had been awarded, were led into the arena.

A horse display, in which about twenty stallions contested a $500 premium, followed and was received with great satisfaction. Outside the amphitheatre, about 50,000 people gathered, and when the Prince left the grounds, there was a scene of pushing and squeezing to get a near sight of him, such as has seldom been equaled.

Several visits were made, and yesterday morning the whole party left in a special train for Cincinnati by the Ohio and Mississippi railway. The visit happily passed off without any demonstration of disrespect, such as was threatened by a few Irish Red Republicans, led on by a few fanatical Catholics, who were repudiated promptly by their superiors.

DR. ADOLPHUS' ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

—AND—

Health Restorative

IS THE MOST VALUABLE AND UNsurpassed remedy for Rheumatism and Undermined vitality, known at present. The discoverer of the above medicine does claim its infallibility in all cases of Rheumatism and Gout—when used according to direction—and does offer a reward of five thousand dollars to any medicine that does cure it, and is entirely vegetable. The Doctor is enabled to offer the above reward on account of his having used the above medicine for ten years in his practice, and has never known it to fail in the cure of the most protracted cases of Rheumatism and Gout, and withstood all known remedies to the profession.
Doctor Adolphus is known and rightly celebrated throughout the State, for his cures in Rheumatism, Gout and Chronic Diseases, and has only to the continued urgent efforts of his patients, and through the desire to help them who are enabled to see him in case, which they have contracted in the pursuit of their daily calling; only this has been able to persuade the Doctor to give the above medicine to the public, and at such terms that every suffering one should be able to reap its benefits.

A Health Restorative its value supersedes all the mineral wealth and riches of California; and is creating a revolution in the whole treatment of disease throughout the world.

In secondary and tertiary Syphilis, Scrofula, Enlargement of the Glands, Dropsy, and all Nervous and Cutaneous Diseases, and the whole train of Chronic Diseases, which withstand and baffle the skill of the most excellent and learned physician in the world; in Chronic Diseases whose very name is a terror as well to the physician as to the patient, this medicine has proved to be superior to any in existence, and has cured in so short a time that they appeared like being abolished by magic influence, and in fact a few more such discoveries, and drugs will not need to keep a lot of useless medicines on hand, whenever they are prescribed once in a ten score they have lost through time their properties in which their value did reside, if there was actually any in them.

Take this medicine when your digestive organs are disordered and your blood is impure, it will surely act on your bowels.

Take this medicine when you have a cold, and it will make you perspire freely.

Take this medicine when your urinary and absorbing organs are disordered, and it will act on your kidneys—it penetrates every part of your body, searches even the most remote and secret recesses of your system, and removes the disease located there—it restores healthy action and gives tone to every organ in the human body—therefore it has righteously deserved the name it bears: HEALTH RESTORATIVE.

The Doctor, who is averse to all patent medicines, wishes it to be understood that the above medicine is no such thing; but that he has, through the introduction of this medicine with its treatise and directions for use, made every sufferer to be his own physician in the above named diseases.

Thinking it under my dignity to follow the mode of quacks, by appending certificates of physicians or private persons, which is too well known can be had for certain remunerations, applications of friends, or by the mode of boring a man half to death for even the most worthless trash, I will therefore leave it to those in want of medicine to inquire personally of men who have been cured by my medicines of the most celebrated analytical chemists in the United States, that there are no minerals nor poisons contained in this medicine, although it is a very powerful medicine, and has a very strong action on the human system, which it necessarily must have, to overcome the action of disease of such malignant character.

Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Acidity, Flatulency, Jaundice, Change of Climate, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Female Complaints, Oppression after Eating, and General Debility are rapidly, effectually and surely cured by the OXYGENATED BIT- TERS.

CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE.
Mokelumne Hill, Cal., June 10th, 1858.

Having suffered for fifteen years with Dyspepsia, in its worst form, and having consulted with the best physicians, and tried everything recommended without relief, I was induced to try the Oxygenated Bit- ters, and before I had taken one bottle I found myself much better, and continued taking them until I was entirely cured, and now enjoy as good health as I ever did in my life. I take pleasure in recommending them to all who are similarly afflicted.

King Coal.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

Old King Coal was a merry old soul;
"I'll move the world," quoth he;
"My England's high, and rich and great,
But greater she shall be!"
And he called for the pick, and he called for the spade,
And he called for his miners bold;
"And it's dig," he said, "in the deep, deep earth,
You'll find my treasures better worth Than mines of Indian gold!"

Old King Coal was a merry old soul,
Yet not content was he;
And he said, "I've found what I've desired, Though 'tis but one of three."
And he called for water, and he called for fire,
For smiths and workmen true;
"Come, build me engines great and strong;
We'll have," quoth he, "a change ere long;
We'll try what steam can do."

Old King Coal was a merry old soul,
"This fairly done," quoth he,
When he saw the myriad wheels at work
O'er all the land and sea.
They spared the bones and strength of men,
They hammered, wove and spun;
There was naught too great, too mean, or small,
The giant steam had power for all;
His task was never done.

Old King Coal was a merry old soul;
Quoth he, "We travel slow;
I should like to roam the wide world round
As fast as the wild winds blow.
And he called for his skillful engineers;
And soon through hills and valleys,
O'er rivers wide, through tunnels vast,
The flying trains like lightning passed,
On the ribs of the mighty rails.

Old King Coal was a merry old soul,
A merry old soul is he;
May he never fail in the land we love,
Who has made us great and free.
While his miners mine, and his engines work,
Through all our happy land,
We shall flourish fair in the morning light,
And our name and our fame, and our might and our right,
In the front of the world shall stand.

THE OCEAN AND ITS LIFE.—Could man descend to the bed of the sea, and walk thereon as he does on the bosom of the earth, breathing through his lungs the ocean of water as easily as he inbreathes the ocean of air, what strange, what grand, what beautiful sight would everywhere meet his inquiring and delighted eye! Gardens and fields, hills and valleys filled with strangely beautiful vegetation! Here a forest, and there a prairie; here a mountain, and there a far-stretching valley; all inhabited by intrinsic forms of life, as full of energy and vitality as those which sport on the face of the globe! Nature, however, has set a barrier to our curiosity in this direction, and we may not step beyond it. Measurably, we can make ourselves acquainted with the vegetation of the deep and its strange inhabitants. We engage birds for our amusement and instruction; and, recently, a cage of glass has been made—a miniature ocean—in which we can compel fish and water vegetation to grow and multiply, and exhibit to us the mysteries of aqueous life. Aquarium, miniature lakes, with their finny tribes, can be introduced into our parlors, and be made the study of hours. It is a simple arrangement to make these water-gardens and people them, and through them we may learn of the ways of that ocean and its life which our physical conformation prevents our visiting in person.

OFFERS.—Whether you offer yourself a second time to the lady, depends upon how important to your happiness is her affection. Many a man has succeeded in winning a hand for life which a lady has twice or thrice withheld. There is nothing dishonorable in loving a good woman, nor anything undignified in repeated attempts to secure her for a wife.

DRUGS & MEDICINES.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—The only pure and gentle Balsam is, and for the last twenty years has been, prepared by SEIT W.
FOWLE & Co., of Boston; and their printed name, as well as the written signature of I. BUTTS, appear on the outer wrappers. As you would avoid the spurious and have the genuine, take no other!
Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—This invaluable remedy is the best one extant for the safe, sure, speedy and permanent cure of Coughs, Colds,
Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pleurisy, Pneumonia, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bleeding at the Lungs, pain in the breast or side, and in fact every form of Throat, Chest and Lung Complaint, as well as CON-SUMPTION itself.
This household remedy should be in the hands of every family and individual, as a timely application of it to a slight cold will cause immediate relief;
while cases of long standing, obstinate, and apparently incurable character, will surely yield to its wonderful curative powers and its great adaptation to the wants of man when afflicted.
